

NTGM Julie Booth's Workshop, September 20

Talisman Pouch

This fun, creative journey started when Julie and her family created "pouches" for the beach treasures that they collected each summer.

Using either the special kits that Julie had put together, or our own assortment of fabrics and embellishments, we each created a unique hand-stitch pouch to hold an object special to us.

Starting with a small piece of felt, we layered scraps of fabric, twirls of yarn and a few special found objects. Then covered all with colorful netting, added yet more yarn and started stitching or couching the layers together.

Julie likes to vary the angle, and closeness of her couching stitches, even jumping over two threads. Often using a variegated thread.

Next, attaching found objects like stones, beads or shells.

Talisman Pouch

Julie had prepared an excellent handout leading us through each step and tecnque she uses. Adding button holes were a fun touch. Or you could do loops.

Adding some dangles for our closures or wherever.

Her commission/collabative piece to hold a large object.

Julie showed us all kinds of other stitches to fill-in and tops off our little creations.

Finish off the side seams; use decorative stitches were they would show like on the flap.
